L.O.: to plan to write a playscript

- I can analyse moving images
- I can compare a story board to a film
- I can convert facial emotions to written language

We are going to use the space video watched in week one to write a playscript. We will need to know what all the different scenes are, who speaks in them, if there is action but no speech, the ranges of emotions, drama and tensions.

During the space video, there are only a limited amount of characters to create dialogue for.

Who are the characters? What are their names? What are their occupations? What are their characteristics?

Make notes about each person so that you have ideas about how they may speak and the emotions that they may show in their dialogue.

Re-watch the space movie from week 1. You will be writing your own playscript for it over the week. Use the plan below to help you begin to form your ideas

Plan

Where will the play be set? What are the different scenes?
Who are the characters? Re-watch the space video
What is the tension / dilemma / drama?
How will the characters behave?
