

Caterpillars 🐛 transform into butterfly's .

They do this by making a chrysalis and living in it for a while .
When they come out they look a little weird .

After that they pump liquid into there wings to make them bigger.

When there wings are fully groan they wait until there wings are dry to fly off and get a drink!

