

America

As part of your new topic, The Americas, you need to learn about some of the words that we will be learning about during this topic.

In the first part of the year, we focus on North America with our class novel and much of our other work.

Your task today is to write your own Glossary of the words we will be learning about, which will entail looking up subject specific words and writing their meaning afterwards. You can use Google or a dictionary to help you.
