A Roman Amphitheatre

The Colosseum is a Roman amphitheatre. Its name in Latin was Amphitheatrum Flavium Romae. Latin was the language of the Roman Empire and many European languages spoken today, such as Spanish, French, Portuguese or Italian come from Latin.

Colosseum

The Colosseum is one of the landmarks most people can easily link to Italy. The huge oval amphitheatre stands in the city centre of Rome and construction was started in 70 AD. Built in Roman design borrowed from the Greeks, the amphitheatre was built in the bed of a dried out lake.

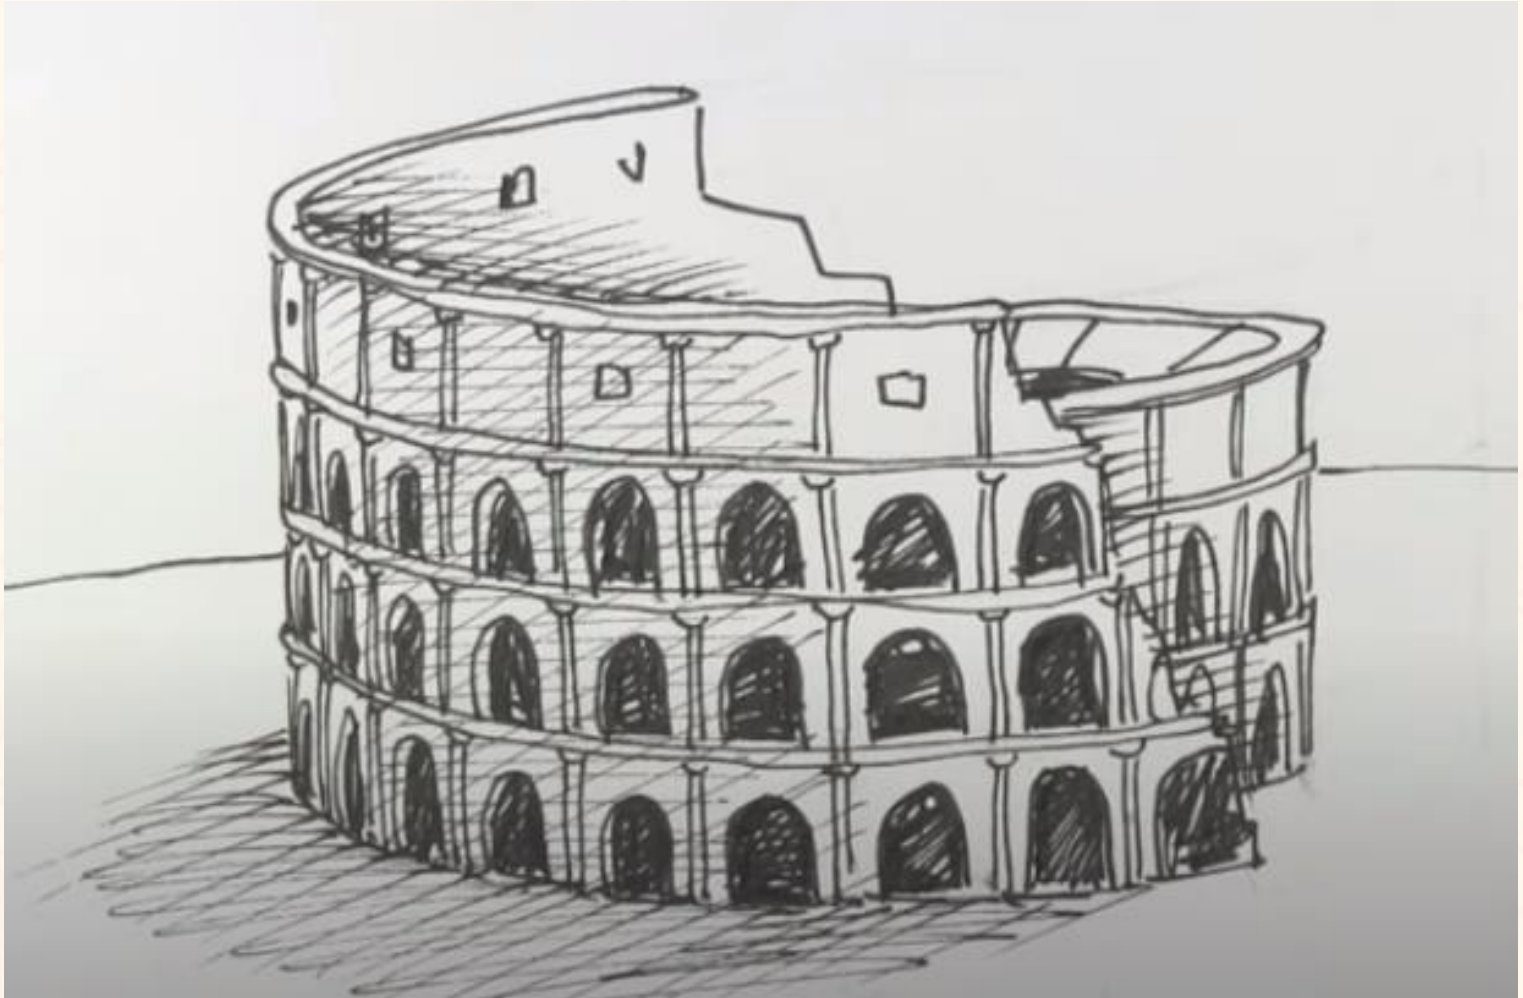

The Colosseum was the place in those days where the Romans held their popular fights and games. There were gladiator games, animal hunts and mock sea battles held in the Colosseum. About 50,000 people could be seated on the steps of this ancient amphitheatre.
