What do Christians do, to welcome a new baby into the church?

Baptism

Today, we are going to look at different religions and how they welcome a new special baby.

A religion called Buddhism.

They are different to Christians, as they do not go to a church, they go to a special Temple.

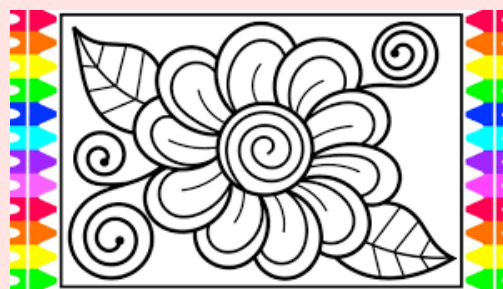

When a new baby is born, Buddhists welcome them into the temple.

In the first month of being born, the family will take the baby to the temple for a celebration and a blessing from the monk.

The family and their friends, bring flowers, candles and incense as an offering or a gift to the family.

For today's activity, we would love for you to design a flower to offer to a brand new baby in a Buddhist Temple.

We would love to see your creations on Tapestry
