

Tuesday 23rd February

L.O. To know the features of a non-chronological report.

L.O. To know the features of a non-chronological report.

What is a report?

What is a non-chronological report?

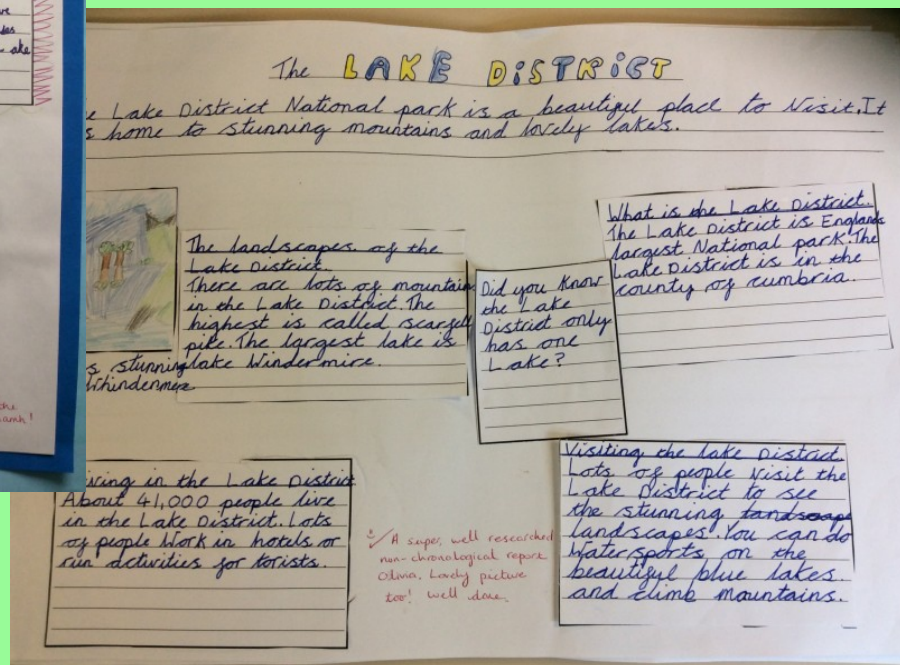

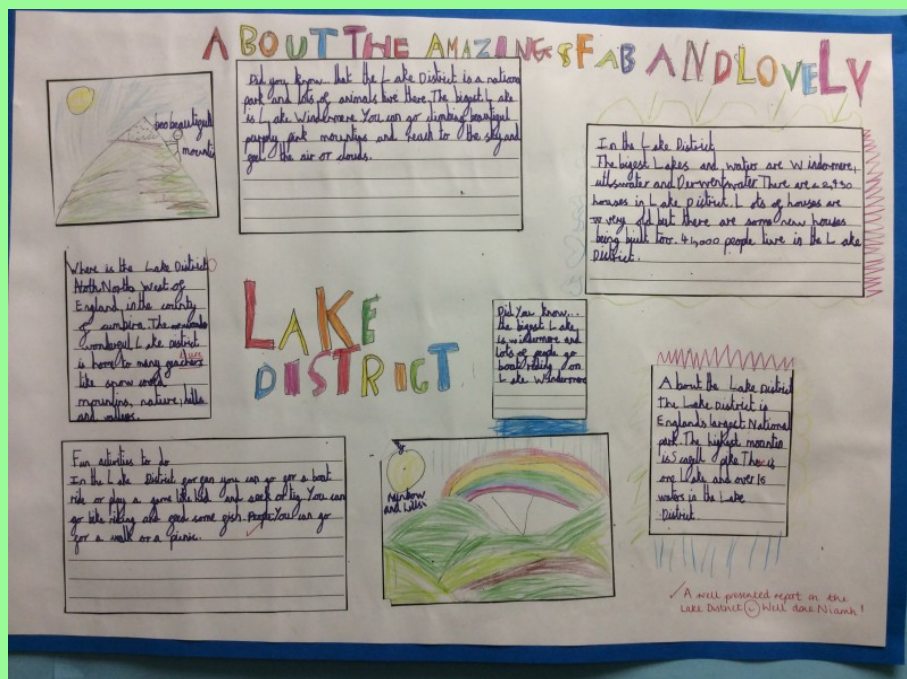

What might you report on?

L.O. To know the features of a non-chronological report.

What is a non-chronological report?

What might you report on?

L.O. To know the features of a non-chronological report.

[Empty yellow box]

The Lake District
The Lake District is England's largest National Park. It is home to stunning mountains, beautiful lakes and thriving communities like Keswick.

[Empty yellow box]

Where is the Lake District?
The Lake District is located in the Northwest corner of England in the county of Cumbria.

[Empty yellow box]

[Empty yellow box]

The Landscape of the Lake District
The Lake District is home to over 16 lakes, the largest is Windermere. There are also over 200 mountains, the largest is called Scafell Pike. Between the hills are many deep valleys with rivers running through them. Most of the land is grassy which makes it perfect for farming.

[Empty yellow box]

[Empty yellow box]

Living in the Lake District
Despite being the largest National Park, only around 41,000 people live in the Lake District. Most of them rely on tourism to make money by running hotels and cafes.

Visiting the Lake District
Over 17 million people visit the Lake District every year. People like to visit to see the gorgeous scenery. Many people go walking or cycling along the trails. There's also lots of adventures to be had on the water including sailing and windsurfing.

[Empty yellow box]

Herdwick Sheep in Borrowdale.

[Empty yellow box]

Did you know?
There is actually only one lake in the Lake District, the others are waters, meres or tarns.

[Empty yellow box]

L.O. To know the features of a non-chronological report.

introductory paragraph present tense verb (is) pictures

caption

Did you know...?

facts (underline one)

heading

subheading

paragraphs

Can you find an example of these features in the text?

L.O. To know the features of a non-chronological report.

introductory paragraph

The Lake District
The Lake District is England's largest National Park. It is home to stunning mountains, beautiful lakes and thriving communities like Keswick.

heading

present tense

Where is the Lake District?
The Lake District is located in the Northwest corner of England in the county of Cumbria.

sub-heading

pictures

The Landscape of the Lake District
The Lake District is home to over 16 lakes, the largest is Windermere. There are also over 200 mountains, the largest is called Scafell Pike. Between the hills are many deep valleys with rivers running through them. Most of the land is grassy which makes it perfect for farming.

paragraphs

caption

Living in the Lake District
Despite being the largest National Park, only around 41,000 people live in the Lake District. Most of them rely on tourism to make money by running hotels and cafes.

Herdwick Sheep in Borrowdale.

Visiting the Lake District
Over 17 million people visit the Lake District every year. People like to visit to see the gorgeous scenery. Many people go walking or cycling along the trails. There's also lots of adventures to be had on the water including sailing and windsurfing.

facts

Did you know...

Did you know?
There is actually only one lake in the Lake District, the others are waters, meres or tarns.

L.O. To know the features of a non-chronological report.

district

National Park

rural view

population

tourists/tourism

protected

Can you find out what these words mean?

